

Lucidity Cloud Cover

Lucidity's Cloud Cover service offers management, protection and support of local devices that will ensure your business hardware is protected and kept up to date.

Lucidity use a range of leading edge monitoring, security and protection applications to deliver your business a comprehensive solution around managing all the end user devices that your team use day to day. With this technology, we can monitor the device health, push out trusted updates and patches to ensure compliance and be alerted to any software problems with devices out in the field.

We bundle this with leading edge intelligent endpoint anti-virus protection software to ensure your devices are not susceptible to the many attacks and exploits that face internet users today.

If you have important data on local devices and systems within your business, you can leverage our Veeam Cloud Connect Backup service, ensuring you can recover the data you need quickly when you need it.

All this gets wrapped up with our dedicated NZ based IT Support Desk, ready to remotely help you get things back up and running if there are any issues.

Lucidity Cloud Cover

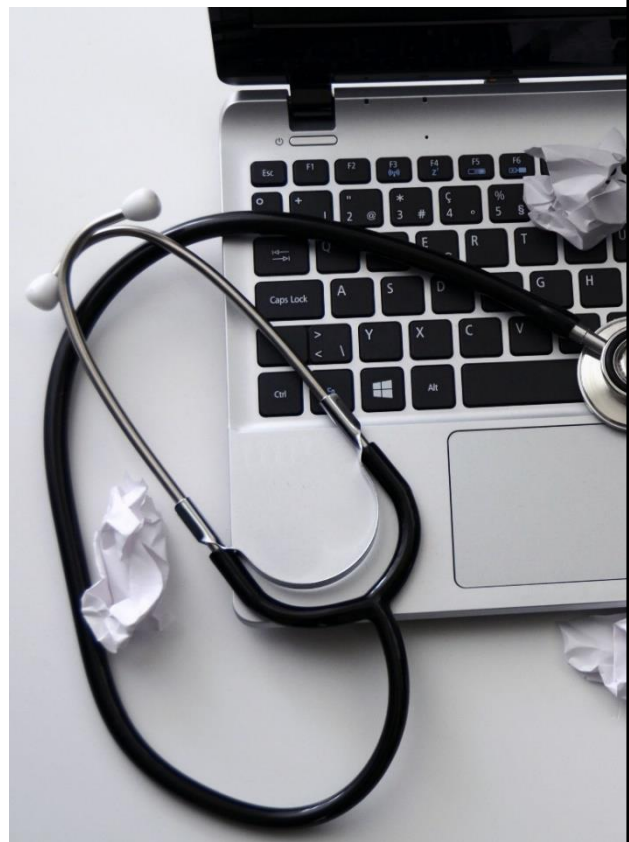

Lucidity provides a range of solutions in the device management space to meet your business hardware and future needs.

We use leading edge technology for network and server monitoring, and Microsoft device management solutions for Microsoft Office 365 and Azure solutions.

Lucidity build policies using these tools to enrol and manage your local computers and devices ensuring they are always kept up to date, and we are aware of any issues if they arise.

Our monitoring agent software runs in the background, predicting malicious behaviour to stop attacks from spreading, and reports back to our cloud based collection systems.

In the event of a device issue, our support team can recall specific details about your machine to help troubleshoot issues and get the device working again as quickly as possible.

To protect your organisation's devices with Lucidity Cloud Cover, get in touch with our team and we can discuss the best level of coverage for your business.

We offer a range of Cloud Cover plans that offer varying levels of Endpoint Protection, Device Management, Cloud Backup and User Support.

If you are after new devices for the office, or maybe just a simple solution to manage your current hardware and ensure it is protected against the likes of ransomware, please feel free to discuss your requirements with the team.
